ARMY OFFICER A SMUGGLER?

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 9.—Col. Daniel Cormier, commanding the 7th United States Infantry, who arrived in this city Sunday on the transport Sherman from Manila, is charged by Collector of the Port Stratton with serious violations of the customs laws. So serious, in fact, are the offenses of which the colonel is accused that he faces arrest by the civil authorities on criminal charges, and even if he escapes these, he is likely to be heavily fined and suffer the confiscation of a collection of oriental goods that he brought with him across the Pacific Ocean.

It is these goods that caused the trouble. According to the customs authorities, Col. Cormier and his wife not only failed to declare these goods, but positively denied that they had any dutiable articles in their baggage.

The colonel and his wife brought with them six trunks, six other pieces of luggage and a number of household articles. When the Sherman arrived at the transport dock, thirty customs inspectors boarded it and to Inspectors Joseph Head and C. J. Benninger fell the lot of examining the colonel's baggage. The written declaration required of all incoming passengers on oceanic steamers was made by the colonel, and in it he made no mention of any dutiable articles.

As it is unusual for passengers coming from the Orient to bring with them no curios or other dutiable articles, Head questioned the colonel and his wife, calling their attention to the law and asking if they were quite positive that their declaration was correct.

Head and Benninger say that the denial was reiterated. Then they examined the baggage minutely, according to the rules. They had not gone far when silk stockings, lingerie of oriental make, rare fabrics of many kinds, including pieces of lace, were dragged forth from the trunks of the army officer and his wife. The more thorough the examination, the more prolific it became. Dutiable articles were found, it is said, by the inspectors, concealed in the linings of nondutiable garments. The searchers also found household ornaments and utensils that were contraband.

Chief Boarding Officer Charles A. Stephens was called, the goods were promptly seized and the colonel and his wife were reported to Collector Stratton for violation of the customs laws.

The value of the seized articles had not been definitely estimated yesterday afternoon, but it is believed that the household goods alone are worth about $500, which would mean a fine of $1500 for them alone, besides confiscation.

At this critical moment the treatment was changed to Fulton's Renal Compound, the physician aiding it by holding up the heart and strengthening the little patient against collapse.

Case very stubborn—dropsy was so oppressive that the patient had to be tapped eight times. But as the tapings became further apart the abdomen began to decline, diuresis increased, and the patient made a slow but steady recovery, and is now going to the public school in Oakland.

The new treatment for Bright's and chronic kidney disease (Fulton's Renal Compound) shows an efficiency in about 87% of these hitherto incurable and fatal diseases. It can be had in your city at all drugstores.

We desire to hear from and advise with patients not noting improvement by the third week. Literature mailed free. John J. Fulton Co., 645 Battery St., San Francisco, Cal. We invite correspondence with physicians who have obstinate cases.
